1. On 14 July 400 wounded troops arrived at the Huang Sha (黄沙) Station, Canton. At the time of their arrival, the Communists blocked all roads to the station to prevent observation. The troops were moved from the station in cars and boat within one and a half hours after their arrival.
2. Many wounded troops have been arriving in South China from Korea periodically, but, with the exception of the seriously wounded who are placed in regular Canton hospitals, most of them are sent to temporary hospitals in the vicinity of Canton to prevent public observation.
